

Chloé de Meulenaer

Department of Economics, London School of Economics and Political Science
London WC2A 2AE
✉ c.de-meulenaer@lse.ac.uk

Research interests Public Economics, Political Economics, Behavioural Economics

education

- 2020-curr. MRes/PhD in Economics, London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE)
Supervisors: Camille Landais, Johannes Spinnewijn
- 2016-2018 MRes in Economics, Free University of Brussels (ULB) – magna cum laude
Thesis: Letting the heirs thrive: A responsibility-sensitive egalitarian analysis of the capital taxation reform in France
- 2013-2016 B.A. Economics, Free University of Brussels (ULB) – magna cum laude
- 2013-2016 B.A. Political Science, Free University of Brussels (ULB) – magna cum laude

professional activities

- 2024 Presentations: PSE Lunch seminar (Paris), LSE Work in progress seminar (London), IIPF Annual Congress (Prague)
- 2023 Presentations: LSE Work in progress seminar (London), MannheimTax (Mannheim), National Tax Association Annual Conference (Denver)
- 2021-2022 Research assistant to Nina Roussille and Mathilde Muñoz, LSE
Working with Belgian administrative data on the asymmetrical effects of incoming and outgoing posted workers
- 2016-2018 Pre-doctoral research assistant to Johannes Spinnewijn, LSE
Working on "The Social Determinants of Choice Quality: Evidence from Health Insurance in the Netherlands" (AER: Insights 2024), with Thomas Minten (LSE), Ben Handel (UC Berkeley) and Jon Kolstad (UC Berkeley)

awards

- 2022 Class Teacher Award – Highly Commended
- 2020-2025 Economic and Social Research Council Doctoral Studentship
- 2019 Finalist, «My master's thesis in 180 seconds», a university-wide public speaking contest in which students summarise their master's thesis in an accessible and engaging way.
- 2018 Kirschen prize for the master's thesis «Letting the heirs thrive: A responsibility-sensitive egalitarian analysis of the capital taxation reform in France», a yearly prize awarded yearly to an innovative and topical master's thesis in Economics (value: EUR 1,250).

teaching

- 2024-2025 Public Economics (EC325), LSE – Lecturers: Camille Landais, Kate Smith
- 2021-2023 Microeconomics I (EC1A3), LSE – Lecturer: Ronny Razin
- 2021-2023 Microeconomics I (EC1A1), LSE – Lecturer: Dimitra Petropoulou
- 2016-2018 Microeconomics I (ECONS1001), ULB – Lecturers: Julien Ravet, Renaud Foucart
- 2015-2018 Mathematics I (MATHS101), ULB – Lecturer: Marjorie Gassner
- 2015-2018 Macroeconomics I (ECONS102), ULB – Lecturer: Pierre-Guillaume Méon

personal information

- Citizenship Belgian
- Languages French (native), English (fluent), Italian (fluent), Russian (in progress)